Djokovic is chasing his 11th Australian Open title and aiming to surpass Margaret Court's record of 24 Grand Slam singles titles. Zverev, on the other hand, is targeting his first-ever Grand Slam victory.

By Our News Bureau
Novak Djokovic and Alexander Zverev are set for an exciting clash in the Australian Open 2025 semi-final on Friday, January 24, at Rod Laver Arena. Djokovic is chasing his 11th Australian Open title and aiming to surpass Margaret Court's record of 24 Grand Slam singles titles. Zverev, on the other hand, is targeting his first-ever Grand Slam victory. Djokovic had a challenging start to the tournament, coming from behind to beat Nishesh Basavareddy and battling through four sets to defeat Jaime Faria. However, he picked up the pace with straight-set wins over Tomas Machac and Jiri Lehecka. In the quarterfinals, Djokovic delivered a gritty performance to overcome Carlos Alcaraz, bouncing back from a first-set loss to win 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. This marks Djokovic's 50th Grand Slam semi-final, his 100th win at the Australian Open, and his 300th set victory at the tournament. Zverev, meanwhile, is determined to break his semi-final curse at Melbourne Park, having fallen short in 2020 and 2024 against Dominic Thiem and Daniil Medvedev, respectively. The German has been in strong form this year, dropping just two sets throughout the tournament. He now looks to secure his spot in his first Australian Open final.

The left arm pacer expressed his delight, saying, "It feels great, and I'm grateful my hard work has paid off. I'll continue to take wickets for the country." He also praised Varun Chakravarthy, who was named Man of the Match for his impressive 3/23 spell, calls him crucial for taking wickets in the middle overs. "Varun is bowling exceptionally these days, as it's extremely crucial to take wickets in the middle overs in T20Is. If the batters don't get out at that time, they can accelerate later on, which makes it difficult to bowl at the death. But since Varun has come he's taken a lot of wickets in the middle overs and has given us a good platform to bowl at the death against the lower order. I hope he continues to take wickets like this." India bowled England out for just 132, with Arshdeep contributing an economical spell of 2/17 in 4 overs. In reply, India chased down the target in just 12.5 overs, thanks to Abhishek Sharma's blistering knock of 79 runs for sealing a seven-wicket victory. With this India took a lead of 1-0.

"Chalo Mobility's Collaboration with BCLL: Challenges, Solutions, and the Way forward"

By Our News Bureau
Chalo Mobility, India's No.1 transport technology company, has partnered with BEST to launch their bus travel app and prepaid travel card. Chalo introduced features like live bus tracking, live passenger indicators, mobile tickets, and passes, making commuting more convenient and reducing congestion at bus stops. Additionally, Chalo created 80 new Super Saver Plans through its digital platform, giving commuters flexible travel options based on their needs. Today, Mumbai's BEST project has become a global example, with many public transport organizations in India looking to adopt its model. Currently, Chalo operates in over 60 cities across the country. Since 2020, Chalo Mobility has been working with Bhopal City Link Limited (BCLL) to improve the city's transport infrastructure. Under the 2020 tender agreement, Chalo was appointed as a collection agency with the primary goal of streamlining fare collection and enhancing the efficiency of BCLL's transport services. The partnership aimed to make bus travel smoother and more convenient for thousands of daily commuters. However, the partnership encountered several challenges over time. Post-COVID-19, BCLL discontinued the student pass and subsidy system, which was a key component of the financial structure in the agreement. Additionally, BCLL allowed other operators to run buses on routes managed by Chalo Mobility, leading to significant financial losses for the company. Despite these setbacks, Chalo continued to provide its services and held multiple discussions with BCLL officials to find a resolution, but no permanent solution was achieved.
